Review: Teach Physical Education in Costa Rica by Mary Hernry.

I took part in the School Sports Project in Costa Rica and it was without a doubt the best thing I have ever done. The Project offers so many destinations, I just didn't know which one to choose! If I have to volunteer abroad, I will go to America. I decided to go to Costa Rica. I was absolutely over the moon the second I arrived. This was the first time I'd ever gone abroad on my own so I was a little nervous. However, the excitement took over as soon as I walked out quickly of the airport in San José.

Arriving in Costa Rica

I arrived in the evening and taken straight to my host family. I didn't really know what to expect as this was a new experience for me. I thought there may have been a little awkwardness, to begin with, nevertheless I was completely wrong! They welcomed me kindly with open arms and made me feel at home instantly. I cannot express how wonderful my Costa Rican family were. My host mother was lovely. She introduced me to different Costa Rican dishes, provided that she is an expert chef, which were delicious. I honestly enjoyed every meal she gave me during my five and a half week stay.
